

Lo Sparviere, Franciacorta DOCG Brut Millesimato 2015

Lo Sparviere is the company's original country residence and the place where the first wines were made. The bottle-fermented sparkling wines made here today are in the Franciacorta DOCG, Italy's premier region for the category. In Monticelli Brusati, where Lo Sparviere winery is located, cool soils, warm days and cool nights are vital for the Chardonnay grapes to deliver the kind of ripe, but still crisp fruit, needed for premium Franciacorta sparkling wine. Its creamy mouthfeel derives from 48 months of in-bottle contact between the wine and its spent fermentation yeasts, before they are removed. The texture this brings, along with obviously reviving fruit notes of yellow pear and white peach, makes for a reliably food-friendly Franciacorta DOCG as well as a smooth aperitif.
